INNOVATOR AWARD REQUIREMENTS

Applications and Nominations for the Innovator Award are open to all User organizations. An organization may self-nominate or accept a nomination by another organization.

Corporate Vendor Members are encouraged to assist User Nominees with their application and may be acknowledged. However, submissions and presentations must be non-commercial in nature.

Innovator Award winner(s) must commit to having a senior official from your organization in attendance to receive the award at GITA's Geospatial Infrastructure Solutions Conference in Phoenix, Arizona, April 25-29, 2010. The official should be prepared to present a brief (maximum 75 words) statement of acceptance. Please provide a letter of commitment for the attendance of a senior official to receive the award, should your organization be selected to win.

Under extenuating circumstances, GITA may consider alternate arrangements for acceptance of the award and the winner's presentation at the Geospatial Infrastructure Solutions Conference.

The Geospatial Information Technology (GIT) innovation(s) described below should have occurred within the 12 month period immediately prior to this application.

Innovative Technology, Service or Solution

1. Please summarize the unique and innovative GIT related technology, service or solution that this particular user organization has made use of:

2. Indicate, to the best of your knowledge, if this:

- Was used for the first time in the GIT market space
- Has been available to the market for two years or less
- Has been available to the market for more than two years

Application of the Innovative Technology, Service or Solution

3. Please summarize how this user organization has made use of this GIT related technology, service or solution described in #1 above.

Benefits of the Innovation

4. Describe in detail the measurable benefits that this user organization has realized from the application(s) described in #3 above. (If requested, this will be kept confidential.)

5. Describe in detail the intangible benefits that this user organization has realized from the application(s) described in #3 above.

6. Please indicate how this innovation has directly and/or indirectly benefited this organization's external customers and stakeholders:

Acknowledgement of Vendors

Please indicate how your vendors assisted you with the implementation or integration of GIT within your organization.

Please feel free to attach supporting information describing the innovative technology, service or solution, along with further details of the related applications, business processes and benefits that you would like the Awards Committee to consider.

Please send your application/nomination on your organization's letterhead to the following address by December 4, 2009:

GITA
Attn: Awards Committee
14456 East Evans Avenue
Aurora, CO 80014-1409

Or, attach your application/nomination to an email and send to lconnor@gita.org
